Annual Report- 2025-26

The college website (<https://rapodar.ac.in/>) continues to be the go-to space for everything happening at Podar—a place where students, faculty, and alumni can stay informed and connected. Behind this platform is the Website Committee, a team of dedicated students working closely with faculty to keep the website and the college’s official social media active, updated, and relevant.

As is the committee’s established tradition, the academic year 2025–26 commenced with a comprehensive review and update of the college website. This annual overhaul involved:

- Refreshing information pertaining to all College Bodies and Student Support Forums
- Uploading annual reports of the previous academic year (2024–25) for all relevant committees and forums
- Updating faculty profiles, administrative staff directories, and academic program information
- Revising infrastructure details, academic program brochures, and admission-related content
- Ensuring that all links — including NAAC, IQAC, NIRF, and publication pages — remained functional and current

Throughout the year, the Committee ensured that all important notices, exam updates, circulars, and results were uploaded on time. At the same time, we made a conscious effort to go beyond just information-sharing. The website and social media platforms were used to showcase what truly makes Podar vibrant—its people and their achievements. From the energy of the Youth Festival to successes in sports like Karate, Lawn Tennis, and Athletics, every milestone added to the story we were telling.

One of the key things the committee focused on this year was keeping the website visually alive. The homepage was updated regularly with photographs of ongoing events, so that anyone visiting the site could get a real sense of campus life—not just read about it.

The Committee also contributed to “Podar Canvas,” the college’s quarterly journal. Each edition captured moments, events, and experiences from across the year. Put together with guidance from faculty, it reflects the creativity, effort, and spirit of the Podar community.

Overall, the Website Committee has continued to quietly but consistently support the college’s digital presence—ensuring that information flows smoothly while also celebrating everything that makes Podar what it is. The team looks forward to building on this and making the platform even more engaging in the years ahead.
